

The book was found

Development Drowned And Reborn: The Blues And Bourbon Restorations In Post-Katrina New Orleans (Geographies Of Justice And Social Transformation Ser.)

Synopsis

Development Drowned and Reborn is a “Blues geography” of New Orleans, one that compels readers to return to the history of the Black freedom struggle there to reckon with its unfinished business. Reading contemporary policies of abandonment against the grain, Clyde Woods explores how Hurricane Katrina brought long-standing structures of domination into view. In so doing, Woods delineates the roots of neoliberalism in the region and a history of resistance. Written in dialogue with social movements, this book offers tools for comprehending the racist dynamics of U.S. culture and economy. Following his landmark study, Development Arrested, Woods turns to organic intellectuals, Blues musicians, and poor and working people to instruct readers in this future-oriented history of struggle. Through this unique optic, Woods delineates a history, methodology, and epistemology to grasp alternative visions of development. Woods contributes to debates about the history and geography of neoliberalism. The book suggests that the prevailing focus on neoliberalism at national and global scales has led to a neglect of the regional scale. Specifically, it observes that theories of neoliberalism have tended to overlook New Orleans as an epicenter where racial, class, gender, and regional hierarchies have persisted for centuries. Through this Blues geography, Woods excavates the struggle for a new society.

Book Information

Series: Geographies of Justice and Social Transformation Ser. (Book 35)

Paperback: 396 pages

Publisher: University of Georgia Press (July 1, 2017)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0820350923

ISBN-13: 978-0820350929

Product Dimensions: 6 x 0.9 x 9 inches

Shipping Weight: 14.9 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: Be the first to review this item

Best Sellers Rank: #628,814 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #231 in Books > Science & Math > Earth Sciences > Atmospheric Sciences #244 in Books > Arts & Photography > Music > Musical Genres > Blues #298 in Books > History > Historical Study & Educational Resources > Historical Geography

Customer Reviews

This sensitively edited, posthumously published work of the late Clyde Woods is of major importance for anyone interested in African American history and its radical traditions. Woods provides a powerful optic for understanding the long unfolding of black freedom movements across time, while also explaining the persistent reinvention and re-institutionalization of spatial and economic strategies of racial dominance. Insistently claiming the social life that has been made on the horns of white supremacy, Woods reminds us that the radical Reconstruction agenda remains unfulfilled—that even as racial despotism has demonstrated resilience and capacity for reinvention, so too has the 'Blues tradition' of struggle. The dialectic continues. (Nikhil Pal Singh, Social and Cultural Analysis, New York University and author of Black Is a Country: Race and the Unfinished Struggle for Democracy)

What is the organic relationship between music as performed and music as lived? Development Drowned and Reborn puts New Orleans back in the forefront of national and international debates about race, capitalism, sustainability, and social change. It is a necessary starting point for the potential rebirth of New Orleans as well as the renewal of the United States as a society that comes to grips with its troubled past to build an equitable and sustainable future. A magnificent achievement. (Paul Ortiz, Director, Samuel Proctor Oral History Program, University of Florida)

In this beautifully complex study of New Orleans, edited by Laura Pulido and Jordan T. Camp, Clyde Woods rehistoricizes black and black diaspora geographies with precision. In Development Drowned and Reborn, Woods tracks a range of plantation bloc-logics and shows how they engender praxes of black life—inside and outside New Orleans, past and present—that cannot be contained by prevailing knowledge systems. What emerges is a monumental project that understands how the brutality of racial capitalism provides the conditions to develop and sustain a variety of sacred intellectual movements and creative acts. Development Drowned is an urgent study of black life, one that imagines new political futures as emerging from the grounded, inventive, and longstanding aesthetics of freedom. (Katherine McKittrick, Gender Studies, Queen's University)

Development Drowned and Reborn situates Katrina flooded New Orleans as a central focus of our nation's history. The world renowned birthplace of jazz and the pre-twenty-first-century major port city connecting America to the Caribbean, South America, and the Atlantic world, New Orleans is critical to both a cultural and economic understanding of the United States. Clyde Woods and his cohorts did the hard work of excavating, researching, analyzing, and documenting a political economy that is too often hidden and obfuscated. We think we know New Orleans because the city is legendary, but in truth, we seldom grasp its realities and deep relevance. Uncovering its cultural and historic conditions, contradictions, conflicts, and confusions, Development Drowned and Reborn makes sure that we know what it means to understand New Orleans. (Kalamu ya Salaam, poet, social activist and author of

The Magic of Juju: An Appreciation of the Black Arts Movement)

A reframing of New Orleans's historical geography through the lens of Blues epistemology

Download to continue reading...

Development Drowned and Reborn: The Blues and Bourbon Restorations in Post-Katrina New Orleans (Geographies of Justice and Social Transformation Ser.) The Empires' Edge: Militarization, Resistance, and Transcending Hegemony in the Pacific (Geographies of Justice and Social Transformation Ser.) Drowned City: Hurricane Katrina and New Orleans Drowned City: Hurricane Katrina and New Orleans (Ala Notable Children's Books. Older Readers) Painting Hair on Reborn Vinyl Doll Sculpts (Excellence in Reborn Artistry) TIME REBORN: Time Reborn: From the Crisis in Physics to the Future of the Universe by Lee Smolin (Apr 23, 2013) (timereborn) Social Security & Medicare Facts 2016: Social Security Coverage, Maximization Strategies for Social Security Benefits, Medicare/Medicaid, Social Security Taxes, Retirement & Disability, Ser The Little Book of Race and Restorative Justice: Black Lives, Healing, and US Social Transformation (The Little Books of Justice and Peacebuilding) Standing in the Need: Culture, Comfort, and Coming Home After Katrina (Katrina Bookshelf) The Geographies of Social Movements: Afro-Colombian Mobilization and the Aquatic Space (New Ecologies for the Twenty-First Century) Marvelous Cornelius: Hurricane Katrina and the Spirit of New Orleans The Inevitable City: Hurricane Katrina, New Orleans, and 10 Principles of Crisis Leadership The Great Deluge: Hurricane Katrina, New Orleans, and the Mississippi Gulf Coast Hurricane Katrina & the Devastation of New Orleans, 2005 (Monumental Milestones: Great Events of Modern Times) Rebuilding Community after Katrina: Transformative Education in the New Orleans Planning Initiative Markets of Sorrow, Labors of Faith: New Orleans in the Wake of Katrina Postpartum Depression Cure: The Self-Help Guide To Overcome Depression After Childbirth (Post partum anxiety, Post partum weight loss, Post partum depression) Saved by the Blues: 36 Stories of Transformation through Blues Music and Dancing New Orleans Jazz and Second Line Drumming: Book & CD (New Orleans Drumming Series) Avoyelleans at The Battle of New Orleans and in the War of 1812: French Creole soldiers of Avoyelles Parish who fought in the second American war ... (Bicentennial of the battle of New Orleans)

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help