Empowerment Series: The Skills Of Helping Individuals, Families, Groups, And Communities (Cengage Learning Empowerment Series)

Synopsis

Shulman's text introduces a model for the helping process based on an "interactional" approach, which uses a variety of theories and skills to build on the client-helper relationship. By presenting the core processes and skills in the chapters on work with individuals, Shulman shows how common elements exist across stages of helping and across different populations. These processes and skills reappear in the discussions of group, family, and community work.

Great book. I used it for my online class

Great book, full of helpful knowledge

great book

There are helpful things in here, but mostly bleeding heart liberal stuff in worst way possible. I'm paraphrasing... this is not a direct quote. The meaning I got was, white people are so racist, they don't even know it, but they are. Minorities are not racist at all. Minorities are what's called, defensively paranoid. Defensive paranoia is the PC phrase for when minorities are racist. Ugh...

Terrible design. Not worth returning. Threw it in the trash. Not worth the one star but the system wouldn't let me leave the review without a star rating.

Great info.
