This book should b required reading in every school in America. I've read lots of books about the Arazona but this by far the very best.God bless you Don, I Will see you in the. Better land.Vern Haney

I just finished reading All The Gallant Men on Pearl Harbor Remembrance Day and I must say that Don Stratton has shared a story for the ages as well as all generations past, present, and future. This story of survival is one of healing that will help bridge Mr. Stratton into the next lifetime. Kudos to Ken Gire for answering the call to create this masterpiece that needed to be told as part of redemption and lessons learned.Don- On this sacred day I want to let you know that you are both a spiritual warrior and hero to me and I wish there was some way I could speak to you by phone to personally convey my sentiments. Thank you for giving us such a wonderful gift for posterity.Tim

I met Mr Stratton several years ago while visiting Hawaii in December. He was there for one of the anniversaries of that fateful day. It may have been the 70th. He recounted a few memories and I thanked him so much for his services and the sacrifices he made for our country. To now read the full story of his experiences and th fully extended of his dedication make me value that encounter with him so much more. I've read many books about war and many books about Pearl Harbor, but to read Mr Strattons words and feelings and emotions gave me chills and solidified how blessed we are all to have the freedom we so easily take for granted. You are a blessing to us all,Mr Stratton. I once again thank you not only for your service but for having the strength to share your story with us so we can always remember how lucky we are and remember those who gave their lives for us.

Well written. Lessons learned are valid today. Should be mandatory read for all students middle school and above. An enemy of this country will not give us any warning if and when they decide to attack.

Having read a dozen books on PearlHsrbor, I had never read one from inside the 'Arizona'. Don Stratton was a 19 yr-old on that ship, and the details he gives are riveting. For instance, AZ was to have been in Bremerton WA for a refit that December, until an unlucky collision with 'Oklahoma' kept her at Pearl. When the magazine blew the ship band-the best in the Pacific fleet-was vaporized, as was the admiral, whose class ring and buttons were all that were found. Stratton, at his post when AZ blew up was saved by a bosun's mate on the 'Vestal' who was disobeying orders to save them. I 've talked to enough WW II vets in my life to understand Stratton's editorializing in much of the book, though younger readers may not find it interesting. However, I truly hope he made it to Pearl last Wednesday for the 75th. I wish I could have been there to shake his hand.

This is an amazing book. It is filled with the actual history of Pearl Harbor and illuminates the true stories of these heroic men. I particularly LOVED it as I am the daughter of Joe George who rescued Don Stratton and the other five heroic men off of the USS Arizona. I wept at reading what they went through as my father did not talk about Pearl Harbor with my mom, sister & I so we had to discover his GREAT HEROISM from others like Don Stratton's son Randy and from other sources of history. This is an amazing man as is his family. I loved reading every word in this wonderfully written book. Thank you Ken Gire for your amazing & wonderful story telling of this historic event.
