The Naval Officer's Guide, 12th Edition

Synopsis

The Naval Officer's Guide is a collection of information and advice intended primarily for officers in the US Navy, but it also provides a valuable introduction to the sea services for officers of other uniformed services, members of the U.S. interagency community, naval history buffs, and anyone interested in learning more about the Navy. Completely revised and updated, this edition reflects the significant recent changes in the organization and policies of the Department of Defense and the Navy. This revision reflects changes in the Navy operating environment resulting from the rise of irregular challenges, increased emphasis on joint and interagency operations, introduction of numerous technological innovations, and the natural evolution of traditions and social norms. Topics covered include current operational Navy doctrine and policies, career planning and personal records administration, shipboard routine and protocol, the operational and administrative organization of ships and staffs, the organization, missions and functions of each of the armed services, composition, management and administration of enlisted members, leadership, communications, and preparation for command at sea.

Lesa McComas is a former Navy surface warfare officer and the coauthor of the 11th edition of Naval Officer's Guide. She is currently an operations analyst at Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory, supporting a variety of sponsors in qualitative and quantitative analytic efforts associated with irregular warfare.

Just what every Naval Officer should own. It's a great resource.

Great as a basic reference for officer-related duties within the USN.

I'm currently enlisted and active duty but I found this reading material to be helpful. I highly recommend this book!

Hopefully I will be a head of the game with this book. I look forward to reading it! Go Navy!

Bought this book before I went to officer school. It gives a quick rundown on the basics of being a naval officer.

Navy sucks
