My son absolutely loves this series of "I survived " he always wants more books and tells us about them in great detail the excitement that these books bring out of him is awesome. Well written and we look forward to new ones as they come out.

Our son loves all of the "I survived" books. We were a little hesitant in this particular book because of the sensitive nature of the subject. We decided that we would let him read it anyway and it really helped him understand this part of history with a child like history story. I would definitely recommend this book and the entire series for young readers who enjoy learning about history. He is 10 years old and doesn't have a hard time following the story. I did not read it so I cannot elaborate on the exact story. Great read for a young son.

I work in a K-5 elementary library and have bought all the "I Survived..." books for my elementary boys - though plenty of girls have also enjoyed them. They love the "true story line", the fast pace of the books, and the fact that they are small chapter books. This is a high interest series that caters wonderfully to those reluctant readers.

Good book. It really was an excellent way to introduce my son to the concept of the Nazis and what they did in Europe in World War II. I read this book first, just to make sure that there were not anything that I did not want my son reading, and it was very reader friendly, but truthful, at the same time.

This book handles the Holocaust with "kid gloves," which is impressive. I especially like the way she informs her young readers about this time in history without being overly descriptive because this causes a young, inquisitive mind to explore the subject for herself. I think this is even a good book to use with middle school students when introducing them to the topic of study.

Received a day later than was suppose to be. And the cover on the book was wrinkled. It was to replace a book my son lost. He put the book under something to fix the wrinkle in the cover.

My 11 year old son just loves this "I survived series" of books and reads all the ones he can get his hands on. I like how he can learn about historical events in an easy to read and easy to understand way. The protagonists are usually young, pre teens that have experienced these events and my son is able to relate to them. We are on the hunt for every book in the series.

I applaude ths author. My third grader loves this entire series. I planned on donating these books to my son's third grade teacher at the end of the school year. This plan made my son upset. He says he likes these books so much he wants to retread them. Good deal! Parents can't encourage their kids to read to much!
