Customer Reviews

"Hutton discusses adaptive equipment, emotional liability, and the impact on family. Most of all, however, she talks about getting through the day and night--pillow arrangement, television, naps, and how to play cards and slice vegetables safely.... Her book should reside on the shelves of public libraries, consumer health libraries, and private collections of physicians, nurses, and counselors; highly recommended."--Library Journal "Hutton is a nurse and an encouraging facilitator, and she will get you back on your feet following a stroke. Her area of expertise is post-stroke recovery at home, and as a 12-year stroke survivor, she certainly knows her stuff... Hutton inspires hope, a vital soothing force in the road to recovery." -- Kirkus Reports "For the new stroke survivor, this book is helpful in not only providing specific tips but also in showing how stroke recovery is a journey. For those who may be further from the event and actively seeking new paths to recovery new ideas are provided. If you looking for a gift for someone who is new to stroke or in the first few years following a stroke, this is a good option." --Stroke Network (Stroke Network 20100503)

Cleo Hutton is the coauthor of Striking Back at Stroke: A Doctor-Patient Journal. She is a well-respected author, speaker, nurse and advocate for stroke awareness and recovery. She is also a stroke survivor.

On January 24th, I had a stroke, one of the ones in the back of your head. There are 4 kinds of strokes and this book deals with only the most common, the stroke on the right side of the brain. Thus, it is of no use at all to me, as it has no information at all on the kind of stroke I had. I must admit, there are few books on hemorrhagic strokes, though.

many self-evident tips, but good reminders.

Great for nurses, not for family members caring for loved ones with stroke.

My mom had a stroke 3.24.14. Book helped her learn and understand a lot. Loved it was written by stroke hero. Great read!!!

Thanks!

The best book on the subject - I plan to donate to the Kessler institute to help their therapist Thank you

It is a very positive approach for someone who has suffered a stroke and gives helpful ideas to cope with stroke. I highly recommend this book.

Lots of good information.
