Customer Reviews

Thousands of cast iron, tin, and wind-up toys are explored throughout this pictorial price guide. Indexes help locate the toys in question and updated values in a user-friendly pricing system make this a most valuable collectible folio. The collectible toy market is huge, and this book will make the most out of any collection. 1995 VALUES -- Book Description

I could spend a lifetime going through each and every page of this excellent book of timeless toys and banks of all kinds. This book is one that my grand children will enjoy as time goes on.

Thank-you for this once in a lifetime purchase that I made for me and my family. Sincerely, Al Wilson

When I ordered this I thought I was getting something comprehensive covering a large period with just about everything in it. Not so much. I got a "book" that has less than 110 pages, no color, and little to not detail of any items. Horrible.

Have not found makers for all toys, very very basic; Not a Large enough Reference on Older cast iron stuff and need more clear picture reference.

Great info. Condition of book great.

as described- fast shipping

I was so impressed with the speed of delivery and the condition of the book. It was just as new as if I would have gone to a book store. Great care was given in the shipping. This paperback did not have any creased corners which could have occurred had there not been extra care given through shipping.

The book was exactly what I was looking for. The book arrived very promptly as well. It has plenty of reviews of products from 1982 and beyond

I've never left a review for any purchase I've made, but I had to on this publication. I have 42 pieces in my cast iron collection and was able to identify one with this "encyclopedia". Pictures are small black and white photocopies that are so poor in quality for the most part they're little more than a silhouette with no contrast. Very few items are identified by make and are simply titled "Roadster, 1910". Wow, glad I paid for that information! Values are highly inflated and give no reference as to condition. I would compare it to a junior high school quality publication. I will be returning it as soon as possible and will gladly eat the shipping costs.
